The competition in the gun trade is confined almost exclusively to this country. England cannot hold a candle to America when it comes to making a fine gun. American guns are more accurate and trustworthy than those made by our English cousins, and English sportsmen, when it was according to the comes to making a fine guitters, but many eyes would be offended by its unrelieved tawdriness. LOVES OF A GRAND DUKE.

ica of Alex's o. R sue.

perous details regarding the private life

But the august masters of Russia did not realize with whom they were dealing. The Crand Duke escaped from his vessel, joined the maid of honor in hor exile, took her away without ceremony and, carrying her to America, there married her secretly. I pass over the diagraces, the vicissitudes, the phases of all sorts that followed this exploit. Royal loves are like fires of straw, they are as quickly axtinguished as kindled. The day came when the Grand Duke, under the influence of his mether, completely submitted to the Euperor Alexander II, and remained the fold.

The secreey of his union and the conditions under which it had been contracted made it null in law. Time dried the tears of the heroine and she married a Saxon gentleman. Baron Coohrman, and itwed in retirement in Germany. Thoir only child enjoys a large income and bears the tettle of Marquis de Segiana, conterred upon him by an obliging Chancellor.

This is to certify that I have analyzed Dr. Frinc's ream Baking Fueder. I had it compased of pure naturals, companied on sorvers scientific princimaterials, compounded on correct solimitin principles. The ingreducins are accurately and scientifically propertioned. Hence, bread or blemits prepared with it are butter allied for disposition.

A TALK WITH TRAINER DYER.

HE BAYS THERE WILL BE MORE RUNNING RACES NEXT SEASON

THAN EVER BEFORE. Of the thousand upon thousands who go to the running tracks that fringe New York on all sides, multitudes of them either know or have heard of d. Dyer, the famous public trainer, who, until it was broken up, had charge of the Grain Stables. Mr. Dyer has the air of a bosiness man always in a harry. He down't talk horse talk much, and in fact, he seldom talks at all unless he has something ro cay worth saying. A reporter met him one morning recently while he was on his way to the Gutten

Imagine the Empress's surprise. The imperial answer was the immediate escort of the maid of honor to the other side of the maid of honor to the other side of the frontier, to the home of her relatives in a foreign country, and an order to the Grand Duke to rejoin the Russian fleet in the Paltic.

BEETHOVEN'S LAST PIANO.

A Famous Instrument Exhibited in the "Beethoven House," Bonn.

The "Beethoven's House Society," Bonn, has recently acquired Beethoven's last plane, says the Fall Mall Gazette. It was made by the court plano-maker, Konrad Graff, who died at Vienna in 1851. He went to that city in the beginning of this century, and soon gained a reputation by the excellence of his planos.

The instrument in question was expressly ordered from him by Beethoven. In consideration of his deafness it was made with four strings to each key, instead of the usual three. Owing to the strength of its tones, Beethoven used it simest exclusively in the last years of his life.

After his death it passed into the hands

Atter his death it passed into the hands of the bookseller. Franz Wimmer, of Vienna: and after the marriage of his daughter to a Swiss clergyman named Widmanu, it became the property of the Wilmanu family in Herne. Its genuineness is proved by documents and confirmed by the authority of Johannes Branks.

It is now, says a Standard correspondent, to be placed in the house in which the great composer was born at Bonn.
